

Thank you for a Successful 2025 Nature and Health Conference!

April 27th-29th, 2025

The inaugural Nature and Health Conference was held April 27th to 29th, 2025 in Houston, Texas. With ~155 attendees, this 3-day conference brought together researchers, practitioners, advocates to learn and grow in the field of nature and health. Hosted by the Nature and Health Alliance and the Center for Health and Nature, attendees gathered new knowledge through presentations and poster sessions, connected with nature through excursions, and catalyzed efforts through working groups.

We look forward to seeing you at the next event!

